People in Transition: Examining Global Demographic Changes

Mark Hugo Lopez, director, race and ethnicity research, Pew Research Center

The world experienced remarkable demographic changes in the 20th century that continue today, resulting in far-reaching social, economic, political, and environmental consequences all over the globe. Join demographics and immigration expert Mark Hugo Lopez, of the Pew Research Center, as he discusses population trends and their implications globally and domestically.

Dr. Mark Hugo Lopez is director of race and ethnicity research at Pew Research Center. He is an expert on issues of racial and ethnic identity, Latino politics and culture, the U.S. Hispanic and Asian American populations, global and domestic immigration, and the U.S. demographic landscape. Lopez was previously the Center's director of Global Migration and Demography, and of Hispanic research.
